VIRGINIA COMING!!! ANOTHER WHIG REPRESENTATIVE TO CONGRESS ELECTED IN THE PEACE OF A LOGO FOCO!!!

The annual election for the choice of Members of the Assembly took place in Virginia last Friday week. The returns which have been received thus far are exceedingly cheering, and there can be but little doubt that the OLD NO. MINION is at last arrayed in opposition to the mad schemes and destructive policy of the National administration.

At the same time with the State election, the Congressional election took place in the Fredericksburg District, to supply the vacancy made by the resignation of Mr. Paxton. We had not presumed to hope that there existed the smallest possibility of the Whigs prevailing in this District, as we were aware that it was one of the strongest Logo Foco Districts, if not the very strongest, in the whole State. The District is composed of five counties, in each of which, Van Buren Delegates to the assembly were chosen last Spring. At the last Presidential election, the district cast 2,911 votes, and the Van Buren electors had 535 majority!!! The news, therefore, of the success of the Whigs, in this strong hold of Toryism is truly heart cheering, as it was entirely unanticipated. The majority, by which Mr. Slaughter, the Whig candidate is elected is not yet known. We extract the following postscript from the National Intelligencer.

POSTSCRIPT.

We received information from Fredericksburg last evening, that there was no doubt of the election of Mr. Slaughter, the Whig candidate, over Mr. Banks, the Van Buren sub-treasury candidate for Congress, to fill the vacancy made by Mr. Paxton's resignation. This is quite an unexpected and gratifying Whig triumph, as the district was thought to be the most decided sub-treasury district in the State of Virginia, and Mr. Banks a most popular gentleman, and for many years past Speaker of the House of Delegates.

CONGRESSIONAL.

WASHINGTON, April 28, 1838.
Senate not in session. In the House, Mr. Robinson, of Maine, appeared, was qualified, and took his seat.

Mr. Evans, of Maine, presented several resolutions adopted by the Maine Legislature in reference to the Northeastern Boundary, the Colonial Trade, and the Military Affairs of the State.

The everlasting duelling debate followed in order, and continued all day long again, without any decision of the question. The campaign will therefore, be opened again on Monday.

The debate to-day has been more interesting than the subject; but I believe the room in your columns is worth more than all that has been or can be said on this annoying subject.

Mr. Yaney has much to answer for as the private in this discussion. His one sided examination, and partie report have done more mischief and consumed more time than he is worth. Mr. Johnson, of Maryland, and Mr. Stanley, of North Carolina, remembered him to-day, in a manner not very enviable, and left him in a position of some such feelings a man must have when discovered setting fire to his neighbor's house. Mr. Robertson, of Virginia, and Mr. McFee, of Kentucky, made a strong argument upon the subject before the House adjourned.

HON. MR. WEBSTER.

Among the guests on board the steam ship Great Western, on Friday last, was Hon. Daniel Webster, whose health was drunk with much enthusiasm by all present.

After the applause had subsided, Mr. Webster said (according to the Express) that he had suffered so much from a cold, that he felt quite unable to return the thanks that common courtesy demanded for the generous reception which had been given. At the sentiment just offered, his one sided examination, and partie report have done more mischief and consumed more time than he is worth. Mr. Johnson, of Maryland, and Mr. Stanley, of North Carolina, remembered him to-day, in a manner not very enviable, and left him in a position of some such feelings a man must have when discovered setting fire to his neighbor's house. Mr. Robertson, of Virginia, and Mr. McFee, of Kentucky, made a strong argument upon the subject before the House adjourned.

WEDNESDAY.

Two new-born infants, nearly dead, were found a few days ago in a stable in the vicinity of the Hermitage. General Jackson aware that the finger of Biddle and the bank was distinctly visible in the affair. [Louisville Journal.]

Gen. Jackson's crop of cotton, (eighty bales,) was lately sold in New Orleans at 11 cents.

The bales were all marked by the General "Logo Foco."

CROSS CALCULATION. Lord Ward, a young English nobleman, who has just come of age, is said to possess an income of more than two hundred thousand pounds sterling per annum, or about two millions a minute.

A First-prize. The following novel barbecue was to take place near Louisville, a day or two since. The Louisville Journal of the 15th says:

There is to be an immense fish-fry over the river to-day. Almonds to be drained in the vicinity of Silver Creek, and all the fish, probably one or two car loads, will be served up for dinner. We are authorized to invite the whole city of Louisville.

The propensity of French printers in Blunder in their spelling of English names is proverbial. The National Intelligencer gives an amusing specimen of their orthography, from a late Paris paper. It occurs in a paragraph announcing, as among the big news from the United States, a rumor that Mr. Dixie, the secretary of the Navy, had tendered his resignation, and that Mr. Van Buren would not regret to have certain other members of the cabinet follow his example, viz.: Messieurs le R. et M. de Woodby.

A Purse. A bad ten eggs. B had thirty eggs, and C had fifty eggs. They carried them to market and sold them at the 25c apiece, each receiving the same money. Got no more for 50 eggs than B got for his 30, which was double that of C. (For litho.) How was this?

CROSS-CLOUDS. The New York Peerless now has 1000 subscribers in every state of the Union, and 1000 more in Canada, and the West Indies, and 1000 in Europe. W. H. D. is the editor.

BANGOR CLOTH. A cloth holden on Tuesday evening in the following manner. It is woven of worsted and silk, and is a good cloth.

ADVISER OF THE RUSSIAN AMBASSADOR. M. Bodin, a poor Russian Ambassador to the United States, etc., etc., etc., passengers in the packet ship Mediator. The Ambassador, with the good English as I said, is a poor fellow of Russia, and like many others, is a plain looking repulsive old fellow. He is a good man, however, and a decent character.

It has never become the duty of the press to record the details of a more heart-rending and agonizing catastrophe, than that which we have below, from the correspondence of the New York Express. It is vain to expect a cessation of such calamitous occurrences, until our National and State Legislatures shall have enacted laws affixing the severest penalty of the highest crimes, to the atrocious negligence of those by whom they are occasioned.

CINCINNATI, 8 o'clock, P. M. }
April 25th, 1837. }

AWFUL STEAM-BOAT ACCIDENT. LOSS OF 125 LIVES.

It becomes again our painful duty to record one of the most awful and destructive accidents known in the terrible and fatal catalogue of Steamboat Accidents.

This afternoon, about six o'clock, the new and elegant steamer at Muscle, Capt. Penn, left the wharf of this city, (full of passengers) for Louisville and St. Louis, and with a view of taking a family on board at Fulton, about a mile and a half above the quay, proceeded up the river and made fast to a lumber raft for that purpose.

Soon as the family were taken on board from the raft, the boat shoved off, and at the very moment her wheels made the first evolution, her boilers burst with a most awful and astounding noise, equal to the most violent clap of thunder. The explosion was destructive and heart-rending in the extreme, as we are assured by a gentleman, who was sitting on his horse on the shore waiting to see the boat start. Heads, limbs, bodies and blood, were flying through the air in every direction, attended by the most horrible shrieks and groans from the wounded and dying. The boat, at the moment of the accident, was about thirty feet from the shore, and was rendered a perfect wreck. She seemed to be torn all to flinders as her back as the gentlemen's cabin, and her horrid deck (the whole length) was entirely swept away. The boat immediately began to sink rapidly, and float (with a strong current) down the river, at the same time getting farther from the shore.

The Captain was thrown by the explosion entirely into the street, and was picked up dead and dreadfully mangled. Another man was thrown entirely through the roof of one of the neighboring houses, and limbs and fragments of bodies scattered about the river and shore in heart-rending profusion. Soon as the boat was discovered to be rapidly sinking, the passengers who remained unhurt in the gentlemen's and ladies cabins, became panic-struck, and with a fury unequalled, jumped into the river. Being above the ordinary business parts of the city, there were no boats at hand except a few large and unmanageable wood flats, which were carried to the relief of the sufferers as soon as possible, by the few persons on the shore. Many were drowned, however, before they could be rescued from a watery grave, and many sank who were not seen afterwards.

An infant child, belonging to a family, was picked up alive, floating down the river on one of the fragments of the hurricane deck. Doctor Wilson Hughey, of the U. S. Army, is doubtless among the slain, as he was known to have been on board, and some pieces of the military coat he had on, were picked up among the fragments.

Mr. Powell, a highly respectable grocery merchant, of Louisville, is also supposed to be lost.

It is supposed that there were about TWO HUNDRED PERSONS on board, of which number, only from fifty to seventy-five are believed to have escaped, making the estimated loss about ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-FIVE!! O! Isle of woe!

The accident unquestionably occurred through sheer imprudence and carelessness.

"ONLY THIS YEAR." Our opponents are really a set of philosophers. They keep their courage up by hoping against hope, and content themselves with dwelling upon some fond anticipation. After the September elections of last year, they stoutly denied that Parks was defeated; for a while, this was the order of the day, but, after the returns had come in, it was then shouted, from Kittery to Caisa, that there was no choice, and that Kent could not be Governor of Maine. After the Legislature had convened, and it was found that Kent had a majority, it was alleged that there were illegal returns which they could dodge behind and save themselves, and they gravely and formally asked leave of the Supreme Court to do it. When they found that would not do, they then contented themselves with the idea that it was "only for one year." There was no change at all in public sentiment. There were not Whigs enough in Maine to do anything. That there was more on their side than ever before since the world began, only they had been asleep, and did not fairly wake up till the elections were over, but another time we shall be all on hand. It's only one year you'll die at the end of the year is the half-complacent, half-whimpering cry, as the disconsolate leaders try to rally their spirits, and rouse up the courage of their desponding followers.

Only one year! It looks like it, does it? Ask the Whigs of Lincoln if they are to exist only one year. Ask the redeemed and dethroned state of Connecticut if she has embraced principles which will stand the test of only one year's trial. Ask the Whigs of New York if they "only for one year" that the true Whig principle keep the ascendancy. And ask the Whigs of Maine if their principles are of such grand like growth, that the destructive works of Locoloccosus, even though it gnaw stealthily and darkly at the root, can destroy it in one year? No. The principles which have been disseminated by the Whigs of the Union, are based on the immutable foundation of truth, they cannot be shaken. They are the fruits and the effects of long experience, and the clouds of infidelity may obscure for a while, or the whirlwinds of passion may shake them, for a moment, but, truth is mighty, and will prevail.

It has prevailed, and every year will see its growing in strength and in beauty.

If our opponents can derive any peculiar comfort, from the senseless cry of "only one year," we would not scratch it from them.

Even the despairing, may solace themselves with what they actually know to be without foundation of truth. [Halfpenny Chronicle.]

Another explosion. The well boat Eutaw, that runs between this place and Steubenville, exploded a blue when leaving Steubenville yesterday morning, by which one fireman was killed and thrown overboard, the engineer badly scalded. The clerk and a Mr. Neal slightly hurt. The body of the fireman had not been found when one informant left.

England and the United States. Let this not open a wide link in the bond of amity and friendship between us, an era of increased amity holds in the code also that guide your country. (addressing the English) and ours.

FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE. When Martin Van Buren came into office, the amount of money in the Treasury was fifty millions. He has been President for three years, and spent $60,000,000.00 on Treasury Notes, and a bill to prohibit Congress to authorise the issue of yet millions more.

In addition to this, twenty millions more will be demanded at the end of the year for the Seminole War, and twenty more for the Cherokee War. John Quincy Adams was turned out because, as his opponents said, it was necessary to retrench the expenditures of Government. Let us see how the account stands.

John Quincy Adams spent $13,000,000 per annum.

Andrew Jackson, $32,000,000.

Martin Van Buren, $13,000,000 a month.

[Providence Journal.]

Rather Persuaded. A witness, before a judge in a case of slander, who required him to repeat the execrable words spoken, said, "The Devil will be riveted to me if I repeat them upon him, then, before the judge, he began: "May I please your Honor, you he, and seal, and get my living by stealing?" The face of the judge reddened, and he immediately said, "Get out to the jury, sir." — May 4, 1838.

[From the Louisville Journal]

It is said, that "Petticoat Allen," alarmed at the indications in Ohio, is half inclined to hesitate in his support of the existing measures of the administration. Petticoat has some prudence after all, — but a few more indications take place, and Petticoat will be fairly fluttering in the wind.

A new paper, entitled the Banner, has been started at Newbern. We beg to be considered entirely innocent of a wilful pun when we say that the editor is "J. Case."

Carrying the thing too far... A gentleman at Natchez, a few days ago, requested an acquaintance to carry a sum of money to New Orleans. He carried it to Texas.

The Rock and the Starling. That the Rock is the benefactor of mankind is now pretty generally known, and to the Rock must be added the Starling. The great usefulness of this bird is well known in some quarters, and the husbandman is not wise who permits rocks and starlings to be wantonly killed. We are under very great obligations to both these kinds of birds; and though the rock may sometimes take a few grains of corn, and the starling occasionally injure himself for little fruit, yet their public services in freeing the ground from vermin, which would, in spite of the efforts of man, go on increasing in numbers, till famine would be the result, do entitle these pretty creatures to the kindest treatment. Let the farmer content himself with employing children to frighten away their friends when the seed is newly sown, or when the crop is approaching to maturity, but let the lives of the starling be religiously spared. [London paper.]

Tic Doloreuz. The French Scientific Journal says that M. Mageudie continues to obtain the happiest results from the application of electricity in afflictions of the senses, particularly in that acute disease termed the doloreuz. He causes the electric current to pass over the nerves by means of needles of platinum, placed at greater or lesser intervals. In some instances a single application is said to have been sufficient; and in one case of dreadful suffering, in which the patient had long been forced, from the pain of speaking, to express his desire by writing, six applications to the nerve entirely removed a malady of three years duration.

GORHAM ACADEMY

TEACHERS SEMINARY

IT will be recollect that more than two years since, the Trustees of this Institution commenced, through their agent, to solicit benevolence in its behalf, with the view as then made known, to establish the community, as a comfortable expense, facilities of a complete systematic, and well balanced education, 2d to provide a Seminary for teachers of common schools, and 3d to excite a more general and deeper interest in favor of female education.

" Of the result of their efforts, the public are also to some extent informed. The Board have shown in their employment seven Teachers, four gentlemen and three ladies, all of whom are experienced in their profession. They have provided, in the erection of a large and commodious brick edifice for a female Academy and Boarding House, accommodations for one hundred pupils at an expense of about $15,000.

Connected with the institution is now, a somewhat extensive Philosophical and Chemical apparatus, also a small library and a cabinet of minerals. For the year ending August 31, the whole number of students was two hundred and sixty five. For the current year the prospective number is much larger.

Provision is made for giving instruction, here after with special regard to Civil Engineering Practical Mathematics, &c. Mr. Robert Douglass is appointed to superintend this department, and will give to it his entire attention. Mr. D. has devoted several years to these studies, and comes to us very highly recommended.

The branches of study pursued in the High and Teachers department of this Institution, with the exception of Ancient Languages, are substantially what are taught in the colleges of our country.

The study of Ancient Languages is pursued for the most part by a young gentleman, to prepare for admission to College. To this extent this branch of study receives particular attention.

The chaffers in the Ladies Seminary are furnished each with a bed and other articles necessary for occupancy, except bedding and dresses for the bed and dressing room.

This Department of the institution is organized as near as the case admits, on the plan of a well regulated family. Young ladies and their female teachers live in the same building. A constant supervision is exercised on the part of the Board, so that the pupils have access at all times to advice and counsel.
